

I joined Edmund Carr in June 2015, a year after completing my Accounting and Finance degree at Liverpool John Moores University, before that completing Psychology, English Literature and Geography A-levels at The Billericay School. Although studying accounting and finance at university was a change compared to my A-levels, it inspired me to pursue this career especially after reading about this opportunity on the Edmund Carr website.

Since joining Edmund Carr, I have begun a four year contract studying towards my ACCA qualifications, which furthers my knowledge I learned throughout my degree. I attend lectures at First Intuition Chelmsford with Edmund Carr allowing me to do day releases which enables me to attend. First Intuition are a great place to learn proving all students with plenty of resources which fully prepare you for your exams.

Working at Edmund Carr whilst completing my ACCA qualifications has enabled me to put the theory knowledge gained throughout my university course and the further skills I have learnt at college into practice through both internal work and audits. The combination of theory and practice helps advance my understanding which assist with my exams.

Edmund Carr is an extremely friendly place to work where there is always someone who is more than willing to help when asked. Their willingness to provide me with the training has been an important factor in my development.

Amy Farbridge
ACCA Trainee